The handheld lollipop drum has been designed for young children.

It allows them to learn about beat / rhythm and aids the development of hand / eye coordination.

What do you think of the way the handheld toy looks. You may wish to consider whether AESTHETICS: it is eye catching, if it is suitable for young children and the colour scheme.

---

---

---

---

STRENGTH: Does the handheld product look strong enough, keeping in mind that it will be handled roughly by young children? Is it likely to last many years / decades? Explain your answer.

---

---

---

---

EDUCATIONAL / LEARNING?: What do think a young child may learn from the handheld product?

---

---

---

---

THEME: The lollipop drum shape and form, is based on a real lollipop for young children. Do you think the design has been successful, in terms of the theme only?
