HELPING OTHERS / PUTTING OTHERS FIRST

Many people in our society think of themselves first and others second. They are unlikely to consider the well-being of others and usually think that they are the most important person of all.

1. Have you ever acted in a selfish manner? For example, pushing in at the front of a queue or eating a chocolate bar secretly so that you do not have to share it with friends. Describe your experience below.

CHARACTERISTICS OF A HELPFUL PERSON

- A. Always happy to help others even if it is inconvenient.
- B. Considers others to be just as important as himself/herself.
- C. Usually polite and considerate to others
- D. Usually popular with other people, especially friends.
- E. Prepared to listen to others and their needs.

2. Describe (but do not name) a person that you think is not helpful to others and considers himself/herself as the most important person of all.

3. List five ways you have helped other people in the last couple of weeks.

- A.

- B.

- C.

- D.

- E.

4. Draw a rich picture with 'Helping Others' as the central theme. An example is shown below. Add pictures, drawings and colour to improve the presentation.
